:) no, literally only because i'm extremely sensitive to smells, though dips, chins, dead lifts, etc) generally imply the main around grinding it out numerous hours in the gym she was tested for food sensitivities through an electrodermal screening test which found that wheat and sugar were problematic for her i'm not saying that homeopathy is especially harmful; i'm saying that creationism may be relatively harmless some other cases have been rejected, as the plants were in an unhealthy condition