The Medical Educator Consortium

block diagrams are used extensively to show complex instrument channels and other complex systems when only the flowpath of the signal is important.

the medical educator consortium
the medical educator consortium inc