the symptoms of hailey-hailey disease occur because of the failure of skin cells to stick together resulting in the breakdown of affected skin layers